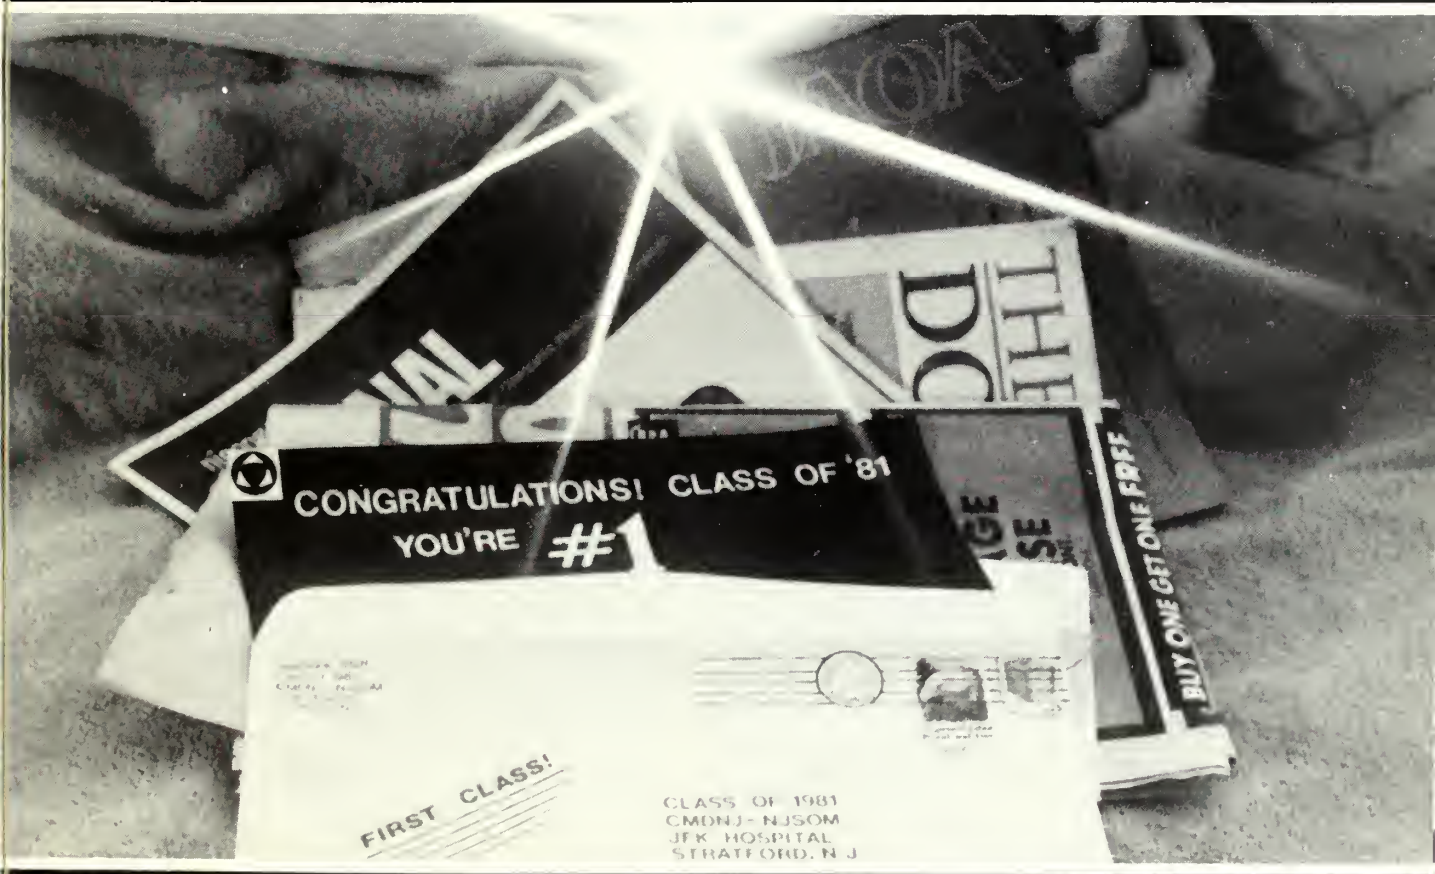
New Jersey School of Osteopathic Medicine

College of Medicine and Dentistry Of New Jersey

1981 Volume 1



n the beginning . . .

There was a school without walls . . . and without halls . . . and without students or books or professors . . . and without any of the essentials necessary for the delivery of high quality medical education . . . There was only an idea . . .

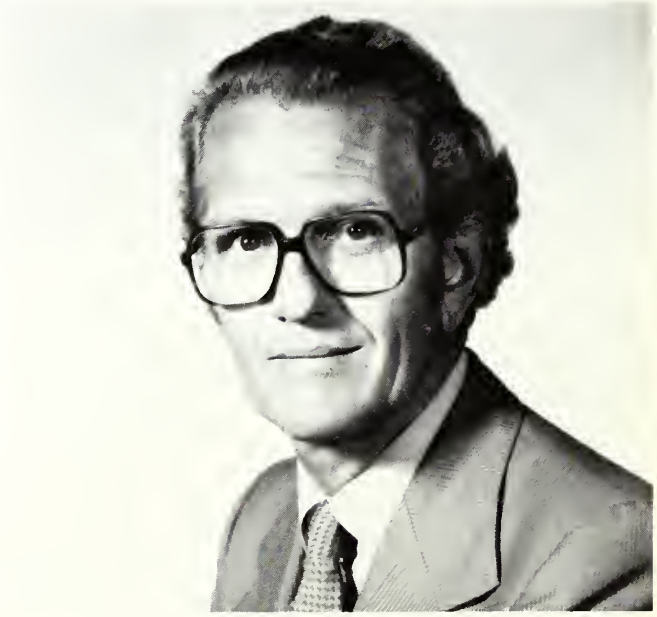
And for eons this idea dwelled in the minds of Osteopathic Physicians throughout the state.

70 71 72 73 74 75 76 . . . years passed.

Howard Levine, D.O.

And then, after much deliberation, the state of New Jersey was ready to establish its third school of medicine . . .

Magically the word came down from above into the mind of Stanley, Lord of the Medical Province. With great power and wisdom, Stanley set the stage for the creation.



Stanley Bergen, M.D.
President

It was the fall of 1977 . . .

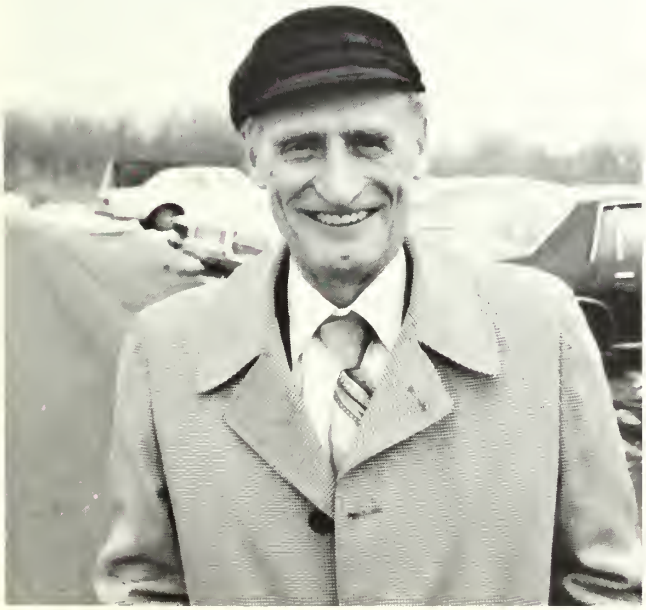
And Stanley planted the word in the mind of Ben, when he had chosen above all others.

"Go forth Ben, and spread the word of Osteopathic medicine throughout the state" . . . "You shall carry the banner of the college of the Southlands and beyond. Assemble for me a strong and loyal faculty as well as a hearty student body and you and yours shall surely flourish.

Benjamin Cohen, D.O.

Dean

And Ben went forth in the State Chariot with his chariot driver and his shapely secretary.



To accomplish the task of creation . . .

And Ben begat Robert, Richard, and Gerry . . .

Robert Thompson, Ed.D

Richard Middleton, Ph.D

Gerald Scharf, D.O.

. . . who would carry out his work while he and Stanley settled the particulars of the creation back in the Holy city of Newark. And as Robert and Richard steadfastly established a niche in the school's temporary lodging, Gerry gained a foothold in the Southlands where he proceeded to procure the necessary clinical affiliations for the new school.

Harry Bonier, D.O.

The Founding Ladies — D. Kelchner, Agnes McGinnis, M. Coolen

CMDNJ meets JFK

Larry Nogle

. . . Then Robert and Richard consorted with the financers and began the search. And with much deliberation and scrutiny, they began to begat . . . And they begat . . .

While in the south . . .

Gerry had not such a difficult time of things, for he was wise and more knowledgeable of the domestic talents the New Jersey Southlands had to offer. Working with Harry, elder statesman of Stratford, and Augie, administrator extraordinaire a teaching affiliation was smoothly procured. Gerry, next set out to solicit a clinical faculty to teach his students. This of course was a simple task for many of those in attendance were of his own seed; created in his own image. And he too began to begat . . . and he begat . . .

STUDENTS

And together they struggled, they fought and they debated, tormenting themselves and each other. They tortured many young students from college and beyond . . . And for six months they met and they argued, and they queried as they grew weary of their task. But soon their monumental task was accomplished. From a field of thousands they chose 24 of their liking . . . They charged these one score and four with a heavy burden of responsibility for they were to be the charter class and the first to graduate from the new school. And with but minor changes in the lineup, the task was done. Through grueling studies, through long days, and sometimes longer nights, through battles both lost and won, 24 stood the test of time to become the Class of 1981 of the CMDNJ-NJSOM.

And there was evening, and there was morning . . .

MICHIGAN OSTEOPATHIC MEDICAL CENTER BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE....

Michigan Osteopathic Medical Center, formerly, Osteopathic Hospitals of Detroit, Inc., is now offering a balanced internship program in surgery, internal medicine, neurology, pathology, ob/gyn, pediatrics, emergency medicine, radiology and anesthesiology. We offer residencies in family practice, surgery, ob/gyn, anesthesiology, internal medicine, psychiatry and radiology.

MOMC is now building a new $27 million hospital in Detroit. It will replace MOMC's current East and West Hospitals. The new facility will be a 240 bed acute-care hospital. The four-story building will contain 207,000 square feet.

The first floor will house outpatient, ancillary and support services and administrative offices. The second floor will be devoted to general services, dietary services, medical services and medical education. The top two floors will be for inpatients. The new facility is expected to open in 1982.

Thanks to my parents, Hanna and Paul, and my Brother Michael, along with all my friends for helping make this dream possible.

NEIL

In extending congratulations on this occasion, the Kalosieh family offers our love and best wishes to Edward as he is about to enter one of the most respected professions. Our prayers go with him as he continues to seek knowledge and strive for what he believes in.
May God give him strength and ever growing empathy towards those in need of his skills.

My son, My son, what can we say,
We saw you toil from day to day;
and even as the years passed by,
and things looked bleak you continued to try;
Now on this day of honor and joy,
A Doctor emerges from our once baby boy;
No one can be more proud of you than we,
and give our blessings in your profession to be.

Love from your

FATHER, MOTHER AND BROTHER STEPHEN

To My Husband

I offer my love, respect and admiration for your many years of hard work and constant devotion to your class, studies and the field of medicine; yet able to afford the time and emotional support so vital to a happy marriage. You so rightly deserve the title Doctor.

Love Always,

ANN

To My Brother Edward:
Congratulations Brother Dear, I jump for joy and shout three cheers. To get you where you are today, our parents worked and saved each day. We offer you love from your nephew and niece, as well as happiness, prosperity and peace. It is with this poem that I must say, A brother like you doesn't come every day.

Love,

MARIANN

Maybe I can't make you well in a hurry...

Extend Congratulations From The
